

Presenting the daily account of the global community™

Global Connections

Getting Past High School

<http://www.theglobalist.com/getarticle.aspx?StoryId=6828>

Study Questions and Project Ideas

1. How do your educational opportunities compare to those with others in your country? How do they compare to others around the world?
2. Compare country specific educational statistics around the globe. Which regions had the highest levels of attainment? Which areas had the least? Was this information surprising or to be expected?
3. In small groups, consider the following: what opportunities are available to you because of your education?
4. Many organizations around the world feel that increased educational opportunities are the keys to preventing and alleviating poverty. Why is this the case?
5. What can local, national and international organizations do to increase educational opportunities around the world? What should be the responsibility of state governments and what can non-governmental organizations handle?

If you are an educator and would like to suggest other ideas for using this feature in the classroom, please contact resources@theglobalist.com.

Copyright © 2008 The Globalist. All rights reserved.