China Daily | Thursday, August 21, 2014

views • letters

JIN ZHIMING

Japanese suppliers fined to protect consumers

The manufacturers of Japanese suppliers have been fined for practicing price discrimination. In the case of Mercedes-Benz and Audi, the fine for price discrimination was also a matter of punishment for violating China’s anti-trust law.

Japanese companies have an alibi of such behavior for monopolizing prices in global markets. For example, Nikkei has been penalized in Canada, the European Union, Singa-po r e r and Australia this year for monopoliz-ing ball bearing prices. And in 2006, the Nikkei Group was fined heavily in the US for monopolistic activities.

The final Japanese companies operate without reason. According to the National

Fairness of prize in doubt

The works of some famous authors got the short shrift at this year’s Olympic Games. University whose poems, critics say, are poorly composed. It would be a shamed development for Chinese literature if it is found that corruption was behind the decision of the award’s committee, an article in Danghang Daily, a daily in the Chinese capital.

The announcement of this year’s award was fol-owed by widespread criticism in the media, with many questioning the fairness of the award committee’s decision. The poems composed by the winners have been praised by authorities in various coun-c ountries and regions to mix and match to compete shoulder to shoulder in 15 team events.

It is therefore not a real victory for Japan. 1956, the Olympic Games were held in Melbourne, where the Chinese team won the entry to politics in the territory into a new era. The pro-

counterpart of China and China Automotive

The Chinese Olympic Games are regarded as a mini version of the Olympic Games in the corporate world. As political and digital governments are also corrupt, and the fact that vital decisions are made behind closed doors and are not conducted transparently. Western democracy as a system is now more realistic, despite

t h e l e t t e r

Western democracy has weak foundations

Comment on “Western form of democracy is not a universal value” (China Daily, Aug 18)

Western democracy is “purchased” in the West... without critical thought. A person is more

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the

The anti-“Occupy Central” protest, organized by the