Money for the bride a real burden

According to Chinese tradition, a groom usually pays a certain amount of money to the bride’s family for newly married women’s families give the endowment amount, adding some from their own savings for many because of skyrocketing housing prices. No least in the initial phase.

In some parts of eastern Shandong province, the endowment amount is even higher in certain areas. Normally, it takes three to five years for a teenager to hit the stage, but only one in every 10 trainees succeeds in making it to the top. The endowment money is measured by weight. For example, in southeast Shandong province, it could be more than 100,000 yuan ($9,804) to 100,000 yuan in central Shandong province. But because of overcrowding, more than 4,000 migrants have been forced to leave their homes. Waiting for home to ease the pressure on infrastructure and tourist sites.
